

A Bone Point from Brean Down

BY DINA PORTWAY DOBSON, LITT.D.

In the autumn of 1934 the writer was scraping in the low cliff to the south of Brean Down, below the kennels, and close to the spot where a sherd of Beaker pottery was discovered a few years

INCHES.

B. S. A.

A Bone Point from Brean Down

ago, and found a bone point made from a metatarsal bone. Its length is $3\frac{1}{10}$ " and it has a fine polish as though it had been much used. It resembles the bone points from the ditch at Gorsey Bigbury in the Society's Museum.